Vegetable Production Increases Yearly As Cane Plantings More Than Double

John Causey, Glades Associate County Agent, told Rotarians about the comparative production of vegetables after sugar cane became an all-absorbing item in the Glades.

THE HERALD asked John to "put it in writing," so he did, and here it is.

No doubt many of you have heard that the Sugar Cane Industry is going to put the vegetables growers out of business. This is far from being the truth. In fact the Sugar Cane Industry will stabilize the vegetable industry just like the livestock industry did during the early 1950's. Many of you, no doubt, remember back in 1950-51-52 when there was a lot of talk that the livestock industry was going to take over and vegetable growing was on the way out. Time has proved this wrong and growers who got into beef cattle production found that it

Avery Bass, chairman of Port Committee, says "Plans have been completed for our Barbecue and we are expecting a large crowd this Saturday at Belle Glade Marina to greet our Boat-A-Cade visitors."

The Outboard Club of the Palm Beaches will be coming to Belle Glade about 7:00 to 7:30 Saturday morning, with 25 outboard boats ranging from 16' to 20' long. About sixty people are expected.

Belle Glade Rainbow Girls will have refreshment stands at the Marina and will serve the early morning visitors coffee and doughnuts.

This group will go on to Ft. Myers and stay at the Sea Chest Motel, meeting Sunday for lunch in Sanibel Island, and return here Monday.

It is expected they will meet the second Boat-A-Cade coming from Ft. Myers about mid-way when there was a lot of talk that the livestock industry was going to take over and vegetable growing was on the way out. Time has proved this wrong and growers who got into beef cattle production found that it

87-Year-Old H. H. (Everglades) Hart Buried At His Birthplace, Lysander, NY

The challenge of pioneering the fabulous Everglades, the tale of the muck lands around Lake Okechobee, caused Harry Howe Hart known to intimates as "The Duke" and to the public in South Florida as "Everglades Hart," to convert a visit to Florida back in 1912 to a permanent residence and forty years of activity in producing on the land, and selling the land to fellow Americans.

A native of Lysander, N. Y., Mr. Hart interrupted a return trip to Long Beach, Calif. where he was growing vegetables for the restaurant and hotel trade, to visit Miami and the Glades and to originate the practice of bringing folks to the Glades by boat from Miami and Ft. Lauderdale.

Marking their 26th Anniversary, Okechobee Waterway Association will make their annual cruise leaving from Ft. Myers at 8:00 a. m. Saturday and begin arriving in our city at 2:40 p. m.

Approximately 48 boats have registered from large 66 ft.

If It'll Help The Cause — Yes!

When asked by City Clerk Vera Jones if she would do the twist as an attraction to those who hadn't registered Saturday, Miss Brenda Markham said "Sure, if it'll help out." And she began — and she continued, Brenda showed the spectators just how the Twist should be done, much to their enjoyment, and to the enjoyment of Granddaddy, Mayor Markham.

Growing Pains— Orderly And Scientific Studies Prove Need For More Water In More Places

When asked, "Why the activity concerning a water system for South Bay, instead of taking advantage of the arrangement with Belle Glade?" Mayor A. R. Grigsby said:

"The same question arose shortly after I became Mayor, and I set out to get the answer with the assistance of other members of the Council."

"We found the following facts:

"Our water supply is wholly dependent on Belle Glade."

"Our supply is through a single line, without secondary or by-pass routes, and boosted by a single pump; the line is approximately 15 years old with a life expectancy of 25 years with erosion already affecting the flow; an estimated cost of $30,000 to provide a second and or renewal line."

"We find that in September of '58 we had 258 meters; now have 375, with new installations from Sept. of '62 to March of '63 totalling 30 meters, in six months, which is twice the average annual rate of increase — South Bay, along with Belle Glade and the balance of the Glades, is growing at the fastest rate in history."

"South Bay's projected growth — the rate of which is now being exceeded — requires 1,550 GPM for 24 hours or 37,200,000 gallons per year."

Swimming Pools Will Close Sunday

This Sunday, September 1, will be the end of the swimming season at Belle Glade Municipal Swimming Pools.

Both pools will close at 5:00 p. m. Sunday evening and will be turned over to the schools for cleaning and painting to be ready for the schools' athletic programs.

Only 2 Days Left To Register

Registered voters numbered nearly 2000 as of Wednesday this week, City Clerk Vera Jones reported.

"This is still but about half of the estimated qualified voters in Belle Glade," Mrs. Jones said. "We're hoping to get at least 200 more names on the books before the closing date, 4:30 p. m. Friday, August 30."

The campaign, spearheaded by Belle Glade Jaycees the past two weeks has brought results in the two Saturdays when registration voters numbered nearly 2000 as of Wednesday this week, City Clerk Vera Jones reported.

Bands playing country music, singers crying out blues songs over the amplifier, and children doing the twist helped remind some 300-plus citizens to add their names to the list.

Last Saturday 105 registered, 36 of these were negroes; the previous Saturday 293 registered, 85 of those negroes.

Count to date shows: 1985 registered, 662 negroes, 1323 whites.

Results to date on the registration campaign have been most gratifying, the City Clerk said.

The near 300 names added to the books this year is an excellent record against the 30 to 40 new names added in previous election years.

"It's particularly disturbing to me, to find that many of our registrants and those who have not yet registered are leaders in our community," Mrs. Jones said. "If people would only take time to check and MAKE SURE their name is on the books . . . so many take it for granted until election day."

On the ballot Sept. 10, voters will express their desires on extending the sewerage system to 95 percent of the residents of the City in furthering the progress of Belle Glade.

Information to date is that if financing will be on revenue bonds, and no increase in water rates is contemplated, nor any hike in sewerage rates will be necessary.

TO GET THE BEST WATER AND SEWERAGE FACILITIES IN SOUTH FLORIDA WILL COST US NO MORE THAN WE ARE PAYING AT PRESENT.

A meeting was held Wednesday afternoon at the City Hall where engineers Russell and Axon showed educational films and conducted a question and answer period on the water and sewerage proposals for heads of Belle Glade civic organizations.

The Jaycees and other groups in the community will conduct forums to acquaint the voters with these issues prior to election, Sept. 10.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED??? Remember only two more days to do so — the books close 4:30 p. m. Friday, August 30.

Most candidates assure the public that they have no "ax to grind" special interests or cliques to be served.

Bill Bailey, the second Palm Beach County native, and the first Glades-born to offer as a candidate in local political races for City Commissioner.

Mr. Bailey outlines that he is "BY, OF AND FOR THE GLADES — his 'ax' is THE GLADES, and its progress, he says."

A real estate broker, associated with his father, Clarence, Bill offers his background and business experience for the consideration of the voters.

He says: "I've heretofore been on the outside criticizing. Now I want to be on the inside and the position of Commissioner from the Central Borough, Mayor F. C. Markham emphasizes CONTINUING PROGRESS for the City. He points out accomplishments by the City for the four years he has been a part of it.

Mr. Markham migrated from Alabama to the Glades in 1928 — "so long ago I feel like it has always been my home," he says.

With years in the construction business here, he became interested in Bees in the Thistles, and has, for many years, walked away with first prizes at the Tampa Fair for his honey.

Recently, Mr. Markham has changed further into the "sweet" business when he became a cane sugar farmer as a member of the Glades Sugar House Co-op.

"I've never shirked a job in my life, and I don't want to leave a number of planned men (Continued On Page 6)

Nine Candidates Bid For Three City Commission Seats

Wm. (Bill) Graber came to the Glades 22 years ago from Ohio with radish and leaf crops as his principal effort as a farmer. He expanded his operations, as the years went until his was one of the first radish packing-houses.

Topping the radish and packing them in bags ready for the merchant's shelves was a feature installed in the Graber House ready to meet the increasing demand of the trade.

Recently, Mr. Graber has taken over the operation of the former Francis Harris' Service Station on South Main Street, when Mr. Harris devoted himself to the tire business.

Mr. Graber feels that his association with the community has brought an understanding of it's needs for continued progress, in keeping with the trend of the agricultural interests of Clyde (Racey) Parrish, Service Station operator is offering for re-election to the position of City Commissioner from the North Boro a job he has held for two terms, or four years.

Mr. Parrish is a native of Aline, Ga., but a 40-year resident of Florida. Wauchula is the home he remembers.

When he came to Belle Glade in '40 he worked with the water department, and after three years in the U. S. Navy, he returned to that position.

Later, Mr. Parrish was associated with Buick sales and service for several years, before he entered the present business.

Mr. Parrish has three children, two boys, 16 and 18 and one 2-year-old girl.

"My four years experience in City affairs has been an education to me; I have learned just what so well that he made it permanent.

N. B. (Buddy) Willis, a twenty-three-year resident of Belle Glade and a retired Contractor, has entered the contest for the position of City Commissioner from the West Borough, and says: "I will make but one promise — if elected, I will work and vote for what I consider the best interests of the City."

"I'm not committed to any group or clique, no axe to grind, and no business restrictions. Belle Glade has been good to me and I would like to serve it's people while I am able and have the time."

Mr. Willis reports that he came to Belle Glade to erect the Florida Precooling Plant and liked the area and it's potential.

"I'm running for Aubrey Farmer and the hundreds of other ordinary taxpayers," says Mr. Farmer, candidate for the City Commission from the North Borough.

"I believe in giving all equal treatment," he continued, "with an eye to progressive, efficient and economical government."

Mr. Farmer is a farmer boy from Alabama, Heidelberg, where he married Miss Bernice York. The Farmers have four children, two recently married and two in the public school.

"I would like," says the candidate, "to see a Teenage Recreation Center" built for the "teenagers" to occupy their spare time and to furnish wholesome supervised recreation."

During his service in the US Army, Mr. Farmer saw service in the Philippines and other islands.

A rarity in citizenship, as a native of Palm Beach County, born in West Palm Beach, Feb. 7, 1923, Jim Williams has been a resident of Belle Glade since '59.

He is an alumnus of Belle Glade High's first graduating class in '43, was a pilot in World War II, a graduate, BSE, with honors, of University of Florida and holds a Master of Arts degree from the same University.

He and Mrs. Williams, the former Mildred Henderson of Ocala have two children, Winke 13, and Jerry 12.

Mr. Williams taught and coached at Euclid before coming to Belle Glade to teach.

A THOUGHT FOR LABOR DAY

"Doing for people what they can and ought to do for themselves is a dangerous experiment. In the last analysis, the welfare of the workers depends upon their own initiative."
"Whatever is done under the guise of philanthropy or social morality which in any way lessens initiative is the greatest crime that can be committed against the toilers."
"Let so-called busybodies and professional 'public moral experts,' in their fads, reflect upon the perils they rashly invite under the pretense of social welfare."
It may surprise you to learn that those words were spoken by the late Samuel Gompers, generally regarded as having been the father of the organized labor movement in this country.
We do not know of a more statesmanlike Labor Day message.

THE WALL

Why the Communists allow as much visiting to East Berlin behind the Wall, is not clear, for the sorry mess of littered streets, vacant lots uncleaned, partially destroyed buildings, and the general drab appearance of buildings, places of business, and the dejected look on the faces of the people on the streets, is depressing.

This is especially so, when one crosses the 20-mile wall from West Berlin, where modern buildings, wide streets, flowered parks and the multiplicity of stores offering every conceivable item are full of well dressed, happy-appearing people.

The street and the sidewalk belong in West Berlin, the front doors and the windows are filled with masonry closures, when you step on a platform right against the wall and look over you see the second wall eight to twenty feet behind the first, with rolled and tangled barbed wire in between.
Sentries on both sides frequently have glasses to watch what goes on on the other side.

Quite frequently you will name plates of those who died in the attempt to escape. Many have floral pieces in various stages of decay, to identify someone's interest.

That wall and all it signifies — arrogance, disregard for the other fellow, slavery, and determination to choke the balance of the world on communism, will some day furnish a rallying theme for believers in religious freedom.

History does not tell us of a single Nation or people who left a dot on civilization where a religion of some kind did not exist!
Authoritative communism defies Lenin; his body is pickled and displayed.

God, as we know him, is still in the hearts and minds of 95 percent of the people in Communist influenced areas, we believe.

We don't believe there are any Atheists.

DUMP BATH WATER ONLY!

The controversy over the use of pesticides in agriculture has generated an abundance of heat. Unfortunately, there seems to be a lack of light.

It has been charged that these chemicals present a terrible threat to wildlife and even to human life. But Dr. Wayland J. Hayes, Jr., a top-ranking toxicologist of the Public Health Service, has testified, in effect, that the country should avoid an hysterical approach to the pesticide problem. He added that there is no evidence to support fears that pesticides cause "a wide variety of illnesses"; that although DDT can be found "in every complete meal analyzed in this country," in the known concentrations it is harmless; and that until more evidence is available, considerable harm can be done "by regarding questionable cases as established fact."
Certainly, every effort should be exerted to encourage and enforce proper use of pesticides. Manufacturers and other interested parties are doing just that. But to indiscriminately demand the abandonment of chemicals which are of the utmost value to modern farming is to demand that we throw out the baby with the bath water.

UNCLE DAN from DOOLIE says:

I see by the papers where a cook working in a cafe in Baltimore has taken his case to court when the manager fired him. He claims he was fired on account of putting too much vegetable in the vegetable soup. That will never do, and the manager done right in stopping this sort of thing right at the start. If this fellow had thrown his salad wasn't just away with it, the first thing you know somebody would be putting him in one of them wrapped him sandwiches we get at the country store. I'm certain the court will rule this is un-American and hold in favor of the manager.

And I see where one of them finance experts allows as how

PB County Hogs Game Animals

The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, acting on a resolution received from the Palm Beach County Commission officially declared the hog a game animal throughout Palm Beach County, during the annual rules and regulations meeting, held in Tallahassee on July 26, 1963.

"Hogs have long been declared game animal in the U. S. W. Corbett Wildlife Management Area and this recent Commission action will extend the Game Commission authority over the species throughout the entire County," stated L. F. Gainer, Everglades Regional Manager.

The legal season for taking wild hogs will be during the normal deer season, November 9 through January 5.

Legion Hospitality Offered At Naples

American Legion membership through this quiet, gulf coast city in September enroute to or from their national convention in Miami Beach are guaranteed a police ticketing. However, it'll be a ticketing that'll please everyone. The Naples police will be issuing citations to all Legionnaires entering them to free orange juice and the facilities of a hospitality center. The hospitality center is being manned by members of the Hardee Mills' Post No. 135 of Naples.

"Undoubtedly there'll be some surprised Legionnaires when they're flagged down by the police," explains Tommy Kehoe, post commander. "But they'll be pleased to discover this is one police ticket that won't cost money."

The police cooperation in promoting the Legion hospitality center is part of Naples' overall program of having the welcome mat out for all visitors.

the figures reported here are from the Federal-State Market News Service, State Farm Service Agency, and the 1961 Annual Report and from individual packing houses and are as accurate as possible to obtain. For 1961, 347 carloads of vegetables were shipped from Palm Beach County 31,439 carloads of vegetables were shipped which were harvested from 112,105 acres which had a value of $50,834,537.00.

In the 1961-62 crop year 33,293 carloads of vegetables were shipped from Palm Beach County harvested from 112,105 acres which had a value of $54,083,065.00.

In the 1961-62 crop year 33,293 carloads of vegetables were shipped from Palm Beach County harvested from 112,105 acres which had a value of $54,083,065.00. At the present time we do not have the total acreage figure but we do not believe the acreage dropped to any extent with the volume that was shipped.

At this point I would like to refer back to the statements made that the sugar cane harvest is expected to be planted at least a year. We then call to your attention the fact that when the sugar cane acreage is turned from 69,797 acres in 1961-62 to 137,934 acres in 1962-63 the vegetable acreage only dropped from 114,805 acres in 1961-62 to 112,105 acres in 1961-62 or 2,700 acres drop in vegetables as compared with an increase of 77,137 acres in sugarcane.

Again let us say we in the Sugar Cane's Office do not feel that the sugar cane industry is going to squeeze out the vegetable grower. His location is more central in the State, his chance but his production will be there.

THE BIBLE TEACHES—
"Let him that stole steal no more."

But rather let him labor, working with his hands the thing that is good, that he may have whereof to give to him that hath need."

WE LEARN THAT—
1. A man should not steal but work.

2. A man's work should be honorable.
3. A man should work that he may help others.
4. Work is a law of the universe and of life.
5. Work in itself is a blessing.

"DON'T POSTPONE YOUR HAPPINESS"

WYMAN 6-2808
Sundays 12:00 p. m.

Jim didn't catch any fish today. Now, on the way home, he can't help casting an envious eye at Tim's haul. It isn't that he begrudges Tim his fish. It's just that, in his heart, he can't help wish that he had been the lucky one.

This is natural, and Jim is young. He's just beginning to learn that you can't always be a winner, but he still finds losing pretty hard to take in stride.

Fortunately, Jim is being given the advantage of Christian training in church during this all-important period in a boy's life when a sense of values is being formed. He is learning lessons which only the Church can give him.

True, Jim is envying a very small item — a string of fish. But envy and greed come to all of us on a larger scale many times throughout life. To meet this challenge squarely, it takes years of self-discipline. That is why religious training can never begin too early.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL — ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a house of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are many ways in which every person should attend services regularly and read your Bible daily.

Miss Margaret West Reports On Six-Week European Tour

Miss Margaret West and her family, Mrs. R. G. West of Pompano, Texas have just returned from a two-month trip in Europe.

Where they visited Mrs. West's daughter and son-in-law family, The Zimmermans, in Copenhagen, the most wonderful attraction was Tivoli Gardens. This is a very large amusement park, built in the middle of the city. Miss West reports the gardens are beautifully landscaped and there are beds of flowers everywhere. They had just completed a new concert hall, 2000 seating capacity, in the gardens. Here, she said, they present two free concerts each evening, and three on Saturday and Sunday nights. On the last night the concert hall was filled to overflowing. The Danish King came in and occupied the Royal box. They also toured to the adjoining island of Fyn, to the city of Odense, and visited the birthplace of Hans Christian Andersen.

Holland they found very picturesque with lots of flowers, windmills and canals. They visited the large Flower Auction Market and The Hague, the government seat. A three day trip to Paris included visits to the Louvre Eiffel Tower, Notre Dame Cathedral and the Palace of Versailles. Next was an eleven day high-light tour into Italy visiting Innsbruck Austria, Venice, Florence and Rome. While in Rome they toured St. Peter's Cathedral, the Vatican City, the Roman Forum and the Colosseum. Then on to Naples, Pompeii and the island of Capri. While in Naples Miss West attended the Operetta "Merry Widow."

Traveling on northward by the Tyrrhenian Sea reaching Pisa, where they visited the Cathedral, the Baptistery and the famous Leaning Tower, which most tourists feel inclined to climb to the top; Margaret did likewise. From there they traveled on to Milan visiting the famous Gothic Cathedral and also seeing the famous painting of Leonardo Da Vinci's "Last Supper."

Then on through the Gotthard stationed at Erding, Germany, which is 25 miles northeast of Munich.

The tour included visits to England, Denmark, Netherlands, France, Germany, Austria, Italy and Switzerland. While in London they toured the House of Parliament, St. Paul's Cathedral, attended church at the Westminster Abbey, a performance at the Palladium Theatre, and made a tour to Oxford and the Shakespeare country.

stationed at Erding, Germany, which is 25 miles northeast of Munich.

The tour included visits to England, Denmark, Netherlands, France, Germany, Austria, Italy and Switzerland. While in London they toured the House of Parliament, St. Paul's Cathedral, attended church at the Westminster Abbey, a performance at the Palladium Theatre, and made a tour to Oxford and the Shakespeare country.

In Copenhagen the most wonderful attraction was Tivoli Gardens. This is a very large amusement park, built in the middle of the city. Miss West reports the gardens are beautifully landscaped and there are beds of flowers everywhere. They had just completed a new concert hall, 2000 seating capacity, in the gardens. Here, she said, they present two free concerts each evening, and three on Saturday and Sunday nights. On the last night the concert hall was filled to overflowing. The Danish King came in and occupied the Royal box. They also toured to the adjoining island of Fyn, to the city of Odense, and visited the birthplace of Hans Christian Andersen.

Holland they found very picturesque with lots of flowers, windmills and canals. They visited the large Flower Auction Market and The Hague, the government seat. A three day trip to Paris included visits to the Louvre Eiffel Tower, Notre Dame Cathedral and the Palace of Versailles. Next was an eleven day high-light tour into Italy visiting Innsbruck Austria, Venice, Florence and Rome. While in Rome they toured St. Peter's Cathedral, the Vatican City, the Roman Forum and the Colosseum. Then on to Naples, Pompeii and the island of Capri. While in Naples Miss West attended the Operetta "Merry Widow."

Traveling on northward by the Tyrrhenian Sea reaching Pisa, where they visited the Cathedral, the Baptistery and the famous Leaning Tower, which most tourists feel inclined to climb to the top; Margaret did likewise. From there they traveled on to Milan visiting the famous Gothic Cathedral and also seeing the famous painting of Leonardo Da Vinci's "Last Supper."

"ANDY LAPPLE Developer and Builder"

Recent Shower-Rains In Glades Are Most Beneficial To Area

"It is a little too early to tell what effect the recent shower activity will have in ending the worst and longest drought in the 18-county Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District," Zeb C. Grant, Director of the Operation and Maintenance Division of the FCD, stated today.

"One thing is for sure," Grant said, "we love it and it can do nothing but benefit the area; however, it will be at least one week after the rains have stopped before we know for sure just how much benefit it will produce to swell the ground water tables and build up FCD ter control program in Central and South Florida. If the Kissimmee area continues to receive heavy rainfall, we can expect increased discharges into Lake Okechobee to raise the stage in the Lake which is now one-half foot below the desired level.

In Palm Beach County FCD Conservation Area 1 is one and one-half feet below normal while Conservation Area 2, located in Palm Beach and Broward Counties, is one foot below normal.

In Dade County Flood Conservation Area 3 remains 2 and one-half feet below the desired level.

The rainfall along the coast is highly beneficial because it will increase the ground water levels which are well below normal for this time of year.

"We are pumping at Station No. 5A, located at 29-Mile Bend midway between West Palm Beach and Belle Glade, and will continue pumping throughout the day removing excess surface water from the agricultural district," Grant reported.

FCD Pumping Station No. 2, located on the southeastern shore of Lake Okechobee, near Belle Glade, Pumping Station No. 6, located on the middle stretch of the Hillsboro Canal where the northern corner of Conservation Area 2 meets the western boundary of Conservation Area 1; and Pumping Station No. 7, located on the North New River Canal on the western-most corner of Conservation Area 2, were pumping and will continue pumping throughout the day. Principal function of these pumping stations is to remove storm flows from their drainage areas and discharge them into the conservation areas for storage.

"While the recent rains have been coming in showers they are still the slow type rain that accomplishes the most good," Grant noted. "Rains that come down at the rate of two to more inches per hour do not benefit the area nearly as much because of their rapid runoff effects," he concluded.

What could be better than Florida broiled blue sea meat? Nothing! It's so easy to fix. Just spoon melted butter and paprika over the fillets and let about 5 minutes. Delicious!

Work Begun On Nurses Home

Contractor Roy Steele points out where the addition will join the present Nurses Home at the Belle Glade Memorial Hospital. "We expect to complete the two buildings, the Nurses Home and the Administrator's Home, well within the time allotted," says Mr. Steele.

Motorists of Florida have paid more than $780,477,000 in federal highway user taxes since the start of the Interstate Highway Program seven years ago, but 42.8 percent of that money was not spent on highways, according to T. E. Gilmore, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Florida Petroleum Council. "U. S. Bureau of Public Roads figures show that between July 1, 1956, and December 31, 1962, the federal government placed only $448,239,000 of the highway user taxes paid by this state's motorists into the Highway Trust Fund," he said. "The remaining $334,238,000 was spent on projects having no connection with roads," he noted. "Federal highway user tax revenues in other states met a similar fate, with the result that U. S. motorists have paid $11 billion more than the amount which was spent for roads," he said. "Motorists now are paying twice as high a federal gasoline tax as they were before the Interstate Highway Program began," Gilmore pointed out. The total state-federal gasoline tax in Florida now amounts to 11c a gallon. "It is unfair to continue to collect gasoline and other taxes at these high rates when 40 percent of the national total, about $1.6 billion a year, is withheld from the highway program," he said. Some states also deprive their own highway programs of revenue by diverting state highway users taxes to non-road projects, Gilmore pointed out. Across the nation, this practice results in a loss to highways of $400 million a year. Voters of 28 states, he added, have adopted amendments to their state constitutions to protect highway funds against raids for non-highway purposes.

GARDENING IN FLORIDA

By Harvey Sharpe

Florida Agricultural Extension Service

Remember, most of the choice annuals are planted during August and September. For best results, University ornamental specialists recommend sowing the seeds in a flat. In these shallow boxes you can control conditions better than if you planted the seed in the flower garden. To insure disease-free seedlings, purchase disease-free seeds and plant them in clean soil. You can make the soil free of most germs, weed seeds and soil pests by baking the earth in an oven for an hour and a half at 170 degrees. Prior to planting, treat the seed to prevent decay, pre-emergence, damping-off and other ailments. It takes only a couple of minutes to treat a package of seed. All you do is tear off a corner of the packet, toss in a small pinch of seed protectant through the opening and mix it with the seed by shaking the packet. Spergon Arasan and Seconar are among the chemicals you may choose to use for treating seeds.

When the plants are about 2 inches high in the flats, transplant them into pots or boxes, spacing them about 2 inches apart. Before setting the plants in the garden, harden them to wind and sun. Annuals that you can plant now-until October include alyssum, baby's breath, blue-eyed African daisy, brodiaea, butterfly flower, calendula, calliopsis, candy tuft, cape-marigold, carnation, Chinese forget-me-not, cornflower, Florida's paintbrush, painted-tongue, pansy, phlox, pink, snap dragon, statice, stock and verbenas.

Dr. A. N. Tissot, University of Florida Agricultural Experiment Station entomologist says earwigs are harmless to humans and are not apt to damage lawns. He says they are commonly found beneath boards, in wood piles, under leaves and in other plant material. They become numerous in well kept lawns. Earwigs are largely scavengers feeding on dead and decaying organic matter. They rarely damage plants.

In the event you find earwigs are becoming a nuisance, you can try chlordane or toxaphene. Many of the earwigs will survive the insecticide application. However, the feeling that you are getting revenge will give you a moral victory even if the earwigs remain as unwanted guests.

Watch out for army worms in the lawn. They can ruin Bermuda and St. Augustine grass in a hurry. Sevin or toxaphene will control this pest if used according to the manufacturer's recommendations. DDT, an old stand-by chemical, will kill the worms in some sections of the state.

For insight information into a dilemma stemming from our "lap of luxury" existence, French suggests a glance at recent army draft data. Last July 16,000 men were examined and 9,000, 58 percent were rejected.

Women usually live longer and show less coronary heart disease than do men. This also may be due to the regular exercise which women get while working around the home.

Dr. French points out that our luxurious living has brought us face to face with other difficult dilemmas, some of which are tending to cause unfavorable changes in our food habits.

For example the relationship between cholesterol and heart disease has resulted in some claims that we should cut down on our intake of animal protein, eggs and dairy products, thereby foods nutritionists have been urging people to increase in their diets. Long before the cholesterol question was voiced it was known that our intake of good protein, vitamins, such as "A" and Riboflavin, and the bone building mineral calcium needed to be increased. Animal products such as beef, eggs and milk are the prime sources of the best proteins. The elimination of these important food from the diet, Dr. French says, gets would be doing away with a main source of protein, vitamins, and calcium. The solution to these national physical problems is one of classical simplicity, avoid food fads, eat less and exercise more, stresses Dr. French.

The proposed extension would continue in an easterly direction for about six miles, crossing U. S. 27, with a northerly branch extending from there about two and a half miles and a southern branch four and a half miles.

The northern branch will service A. Duda and Sons vegetable packers and producers who plan to construct a multi-million-dollar plant.

The southern branch will furnish rail to South Florida Sugar Corporation.

The council voted a $25.00 a month raise for patrolman Robert Baker.

Registration for all students, first grade through eighth grade of South Bay School will be held Thursday (today) August 29, from 9:00 a. m. till noon.

Principal H. A. Queltette reminds all parents of first grade students that the child will be required to present a list of immunization shots and a registered birth certificate to enroll.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sconvers, Jimmy and Nellie spent Sunday in Ocala visiting "Six-Gun-Territory" Sliver Springs, Florida.

Leaving on Eastern Air Lines and the Ship Bremen Mr. Heinrich Eifers and daughter Mimi Haterkamp for Eileen Germany. Mr. Eifers is the father of Mr. Henry Eifers of South Bay. They have been visiting the Henry Eifers for several months and are now in return to their home in Germany.

Mr. W. C. Allen traveled to Tampa on Thursday to take his sister Mrs. Vivian Hunter to the home after spending a week in South Bay, Tuesday, Mr. Allen traveled to Miami to take Mrs. J. S. Kimberly who had spent a week with him at her home.

A guest at the home of Mrs. Maggie Goodbread was Paula Huycke of Falls Church, Virginia.

50 Miles Hikes Not Practical For 10-Hour-Week Worker

Although "50 miles hikes" and "rigorous exercise campaign" are not practical for the 40-hour-a-week worker, research is beginning to suggest a daily dose of voluntary exercise.

According to Dr. R. B. French, Agricultural Experiment Station, such advance in scientific technology and industrialization has tended to reduce our physical labor.

"Unlike any previous society, we enjoy a level of living that depends primarily upon the use of machines," emphasizes French. "We no longer get the amount of physical exercise that customed to for many centuries."

Fla. Fish Bring $31 Million In '62

Fish from Florida's oceanic fish-farm supplies much of the nation's need for fine seafood, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce said yesterday.

"No other southern state (and only two others, one east and one west) has a fish catch worth as much annually as Florida," according to the trade body's Weekly Business Review. "The fish that did not get away from Florida's commercial fishermen last year had a total value of $31 million at the docks. Processing, icing, freezing and delivering added many more millions before the seafood reached a consumer's tables."

"In the weight of last year's catch, 186.7 million pounds, Florida ranked eleventh among the states. This Florida catch included 37 million pounds of menhaden and other inshore fish brought into Fernandina beach for processing into oils and fertilizers."

"Hillsborough, Monroe and Lee counties were tops in the state's $18 million shrimp catch. Frank and Lela stood first in oyster production and food fish came more from the Gulf counties than from those along the Atlantic."

"Some of the value of the state's seafood can be traced directly to applied research conducted by the State Board of Conservation. Projects currently under way in the state should be even more fruitful as work progresses," the State Chamber pointed out.

"What Am I Going To Do?" Answered By Need For "Agribusiness" Grads

School bells are ringing once again, to recall students from a summer of relaxation and fun. The age-old question, "What Am I going to do?" is a source of constant anxiety for high school grads.

Florida's need for trained men and women in "agribusiness" is nearly double the number of college graduates, in this area according to Dr. E. W. Cate, economist with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service.

A total of $10 billion is invested each year in Florida's biggest business, "agribusiness."

Today's consumers demand more, thus calling for a great expansion in agribusiness, an expansion that cannot take place without men and women to fill the increased job opportunities, Cate said.

Agribusiness and farming employ 375,000 people, 40 percent of the local employment of Florida at the time of the last census. In addition, 10 percent of all people working in retail business are employed in agribusiness.

At the University of Florida, College of Agriculture 80 students graduate each year with a B. S. degree, and 40 graduate with a M. S. or a Ph. D. in agriculture.

Of the students graduating in 1962 and 1963, approximately 50 percent entered private industry. Graduate study attracted 20 percent. Other placements were 10 percent military service, 10 percent farm management and 10 percent government work.

A great bulk of the raw products for our manufacturing plants in Florida comes from our state's 20,000,000 acres of tree farms, its 700,000 acres of citrus groves, and from its 8,000,000 acres of ranches and farms, reports Cate. "With these statistics it is easy to see the need in Florida for qualified graduates in agribusiness to fill the numerous opportunities," emphasizes Cate.

School and Carver High School in Delray; East Lake High School in Pahokee and Riviera High School.

The program under the direction of the Department of Adult and Veteran Education of the county school board offers courses in adult education for men and women above compulsory school attendance age.

The courses are in three categories: 1. elementary level courses designed to prepare students for evening high school; 2. high school level courses for adults wishing to get a better job, a promotion or to prepare for college; 3. courses of general interest designed to assist in the cultural development of people at any educational level.

The following courses are being offered: Elementary and high school courses in all areas; fundamentals of art; oil painting; foreign languages, including conversational Spanish at all levels and conversational French; instrumental music and band; citizenship education for foreignborn; creative writing.

Registrations are also being taken for classes in education for parenthood; education for aging; general shop; income tax preparation; law for personal use; general psychology; public affairs education; rapid reading; speech, and investments.

There is no tuition fee for the instruction. However, there is a small registration fee and students must furnish their own materials in most instances and the textbook where one is required. Classes usually meet 7:00-10:00 p. m. one night a week.

mounted on an adjoining barge and digging in the rim canal. The crusher also serves to remove most of the excess water and deposits the fill material to the top of the levee. To hold the liquid fill, a smaller dragline moves ahead of the conveyor belt and builds a small "holding" dike thus the levee is not only being raised, but is widened with the same operation.

According to C. L. Reynolds, the machine is capable of conveying approximately 5,000 yards of material a day. This production, however, has not been reached many days because of breakdowns. Estimated cost of the barge and conveyor is $400,000.

Officials feel the project is approximately 8 percent behind schedule at present, but completion on schedule is anticipated.

The pine trees along the levee presented a minor problem which was eliminated when the Corps of Engineers allowed the trees to be topped at 12 ft. The thick tree islands have been created by the Engineers to help prevent erosion and the topping will not hinder their continued growth.

Charles Wiesenfelt, project engineer for the Corps of Engineers said that the 13 mile project would involve moving an estimated 5,000,000 yards of material and that the additional heights would ultimately allow the Lake Okechobee water level to be raised two or three feet in its 730-square miles.

Nuclear Attack — Key To Survival

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of 10 feature articles to be released at two-week intervals by the Agricultural Extension Service on civil defense.

Will there ever be another surprise attack on the United States like Pearl Harbor? It is doubtful. Even after the attack on Pearl Harbor, there was enough time to prepare our defenses and build a counter offensive. Today, we could have no such opportunity.

E. S. Holmes, rural civil defense coordinator for the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, reminds us that in this nuclear age of high speed aircraft, rockets, and space satellites, the time between warning of danger and the actual attack would be negligible. Such warning time would probably range from only a few minutes to at most a few hours — certainly not enough time to build and stock a family fallout shelter.

Holmes emphasizes that the key to survival in case of nuclear attack would be nearby protection from radiation — protection prepared well in advance of any possible emergency. He also points out that since warning time would be short, there would be very little chance of the family being together. "Mother might be shopping," he says, "the children could be playing somewhere in the neighborhood, and the father would probably be at work." Therefore, every member of the family should know what to do for their individual and collective protection. Maximum survival will depend on the maximum number of people being adequately informed concerning civil defense.

"The time for readiness is now!" Holmes stresses. "Such readiness should be a part of our daily lives. We should make checks on the condition of our protection facilities, and every family should carry out periodic drills of procedures to follow in case of enemy attack.

"Unfortunately," Holmes says, "some people tend to take a defeatist attitude about civil defense." From the time of the War for Independence, many Americans have given their lives to obtain and insure the freedom that we enjoy today. Certainly all who have made the supreme sacrifice would be greatly disappointed in those who express a "do nothing" attitude about protecting themselves and their nation. This very attitude, "Holmes emphasizes, "has cost many other people of the world their individual and national liberty."

The Agricultural Extension specialist stresses that we live in a dangerous age, and we must all rise to meet the challenge. Individually and collectively we must say and believe, and take steps to insure that WE WILL SURVIVE.

"One of the keys to our survival is knowledge," he stresses. Other than any attack which might take place, the second greatest danger is ignorance. Ignorance can cause chaos and break down an organized plan.

The Department of Defense, the Atomic Energy Commission, the U. S. Public Health Service and the U. S. Department of Agriculture all have information on what to expect during a nuclear attack, how to survive and what to do after the attack. Our governmental agencies, national, state and local, are organized to meet such an emergency, but they need the help and cooperation of every citizen.

To find out how you can do your part, contact your local county agricultural agent for latest facts and information.

Insurance Help Offered Florida Senior Citizens

J. Edwin Larson, State Treasurer and Insurance Commissioner, announced today in Tampa the establishment of a Senior Citizens Service Section in the State Insurance Department. Headed by Frank Alexander, a career Accident and Health Deputy in Mr. Larson's office, the new division, which will be staffed by present employees, will be devoted to helping Florida's senior citizens with their insurance problems.

At least one experienced person in each of the 19 insurance field offices will be designated to work with the senior citizens in the area. Their duties will be to work closely with clubs, organizations and individuals, supplying information and counsel in all their insurance problems, according to Mr. Larson.

Larson said that obtaining adequate health insurance coverage is a special problem to persons in the upper-age brackets.

"There are more than 600,000 retirees living in Florida and more moving here every day," Larson said, "and from the mail we receive in our Tallahassee office and in our field offices, it is apparent that obtaining adequate insurance protection for the disabilities of old age is one of their major concerns, verified by the surveys conducted by the Department.

"As a result," Larson said, "too many senior citizens, in their anxiety to obtain insurance coverage, have been buying policies from non-licensed companies, which appear to offer lucrative benefits, but in reality provide only disappointment."

"These unlicensed companies, which usually advertise by mail, are not regulated by the State of Florida, making it difficult for the policyholder to recover the premiums or receive the benefits."

"There are several companies, properly licensed to do business in Florida, which are now offering plans specifically designed to fit the needs of our Senior Citizens," Mr. Larson stated. "The law passed in the 1963 Legislature, sponsored by the Insurance Department, permitting any Florida licensed agent to sell health insurance for any company permitted to do business in Florida, is a big step forward in supplying health insurance needs to our Senior citizens," he added.

Graves was appointed as director-at-large by R. B. Toottell, governor of the Farm Credit Administration, to fill an unexpired term ending December 31, 1964. The vacancy was caused by the recent appointment of Lorin T. Bice of Haines City, Florida, to the Federal Farm Credit Board.

As a member of the Farm Credit Board of Columbia, Mr. Graves will also serve as a director of The Federal Land Bank of Columbia, the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Columbia, and the Columbia Bank for Cooperatives. Take Care Of Trees Before Hurricane

The hurricane season is here. This brings to mind that trees and men have one thing in common — they often are exposed to the fury of a lady.

The human-type tiff may be caused by arguments over a permanent wave. But without a doubt tree trouble starts with an easterly wave.

Men have the choice of joining the Foreign Legion when a storm begins brewing around their home, because they may find it easier to face bullets than fight a domestic battle. But trees have no choice. They must face the full fury of a lady without being able to strike back.

Usually the storm's first provocation is to soak the rotting, moss-filled tree branches. Next, the windy lady plays the scenery to the ground with a dull thrust which puts the home owner's nerves on edge.

So inspect your trees for dead branches that seem to be ready to fall. Also look for dead branches that are firm but brittle. A gust of hurricane-force wind can snap an arm-size branch from a tree and send it missile speed through a picture window.

A low-hanging branch over a roof can wreak havoc. Powerful winds can turn the limb into a tool of destruction. The tool can remove steel shingle as easily as a fish scaler can remove scales.

Removing dead and out-of-place limbs is a good idea even if there is no storm alert. Surprising is necessary for eye appeal.

Fan-like fungus growing on the side of a tree trunk indicates rot spots that need attention. A hole made by a wood-boring insect is a warning of storms, or the gougé of an auto.

The auto-made wound can easily be filled with a water-tight material, as it is more than kneeling height. But other rotting areas will require experience at climbing to dizzy heights on a trembling ladder. Having the know-how of a dentist is also helpful. Often it is cheaper in the long run to call a professional to handle the tree-top jobs.

Some older trees with Y-shaped crotches often are prone to cleave apart. Check the trees in this category. If necessary, place temporary props in the appropriate places, or make the tree one unit again with steel rods and turn-buckles.

Remove decayed trees that are too weak to hold up the strain of a storm. This action will save you grief later.

Palm fronds with saw tooth stems are wicked to deal with if propelled by an 80 mile per hour wind. So, clean away all loose palm leaves at the first hint of a storm.

Trees are not apt to crush a house if they succumb to a big blow. Usually, as the soil becomes soggy and wind stronger, the trees fall gently against the

Quality Education Need Of World Today

O never side one heart about "academic excellence" and about "quality education" — what is quality education? That is the question asked and answered by Stetson University's Dr. Ray V. Sowers, director of teacher education, writing in the just released summer issue of the Stetson Letter, a quarterly magazine.

Quality education, according to Sowers, deals directly with how well we are equipping our children and youth to survive and progress in the kind of world into which we have "roughed them."

First, quality education must reduce intellectual honesty expressed in critical study. Sowers says, as well as unremitting search for the truth with the freedom and courage to follow wherever truth leads.

"This means, among other things, the ability to think, to reason, to communicate and to make discriminating choices in one's abiding values," Sowers writes.

Second, quality education must foster an appreciation of and a love for beauty.

"Elements of beauty can be reduced to cold statistics," he writes. "If the trees lean against the house during the first gust of the storm, this is an asset. The trees then serve as a prop to hold the house snugly and safely during the second gust of the blow. Actually, a hundred mile per hour wind is not as dangerous as it sounds, if necessary men are taken before the wind reaches gale force, plus retreating indoors while the unweathere lady is dancing around outside.

If your home is located in an area that might be flooded, you will be given ample notice to evacuate hours before the storm reaches your area. Otherwise, there is no safer place than in a well-built home.

Soon as the storm is past it is a good idea to inspect the trees and other plants around the house. Usually all the plants will show signs of wind damage. But with a little trimming, pruning and resetting of root systems, nearly all plants that were shaken loose from the ground can be salvaged.

Following a hurricane there are nearly always a few bright sunny days. Use these days to dry out and tidy up around the house. In no time at all you will erase the signs of the big blow.

the Stetson professor says. They are qualities of the spirit which flower in an atmosphere of freedom. They are nurtured best by creative good will and empathetic understanding, not by automation."

Ethical sensitivity is a third characteristic of quality education, according to Sowers.

"More important than what man knows is the use to which he puts his knowledge. Knowledge in and of itself is NOT power," Sowers says. "Knowledge becomes power only when properly applied and this depends on the individual's sense of moral responsibility."

The fourth criterion for quality education involves social orientation. "Man's true destiny requires that he give himself to his Creator's design for living in order to realize self-mastery."

The best education also satisfies the needs of the human spirit. It must provide the stream of experiences which make the MANNER of a person's free choices such as to provide a "crown of honor," Sowers declares.

"A person's basic attitude, his fundamental ways of feeling, his deep-rooted approach to life, caring for people and sharing their problems — these are his real equipment," the author writes in his Stetson Letter article.

"Moreover, unless children and youth develop a love of learning, a love of liberty, a love for law and order, their love of life will be tarnished."

Dr. Sowers points out that teachers today must be firmly committed to academic excellence and spiritual depth in education. Those who inspire commitment of their students to serving their day and generation and becoming a partner "with Providence in the process of creation," these teachers are the instruments of quality education.

And the preparation of such teachers is one of the most important functions of higher education, the Stetson professor adds.
